

2007 Organ Donation Congress
9th ISODP & 6th ITCS
November 11 - 14, 2007
Philadelphia, PA, USA

Creating Successful Organ Donation and Transplantation Collaboratives: Leading Practices from the U.S. Experience

Saturday, November 10, 2007
9:00 AM to 3:30 PM

- 1. Begin with the End in Mind: Background on the Collaborative Methodology
Marie Schall, Institute of Healthcare Improvement
- 2. Aim, Ideas, and Goals: Developing the Organ Donation Collaborative
(with an emphasis on using the nationally available data)
James Burdick, MD
Virginia McBride, Health Resources and Services Administration (HRSA), U.S. Federal Government
- 3. Have the Right People at the Table: Team Make-up
The 3 Estates: Organ Procurement Organizations, Donor Hospitals, and Transplant Centers;
Engaging National Stakeholders; Leadership Coordinating Council
Howard M. Nathan, Gift of Life, Philadelphia; and Francis A. Zampello, MD, Quality Reality Checks, Inc.

Questions to run on:

What strategy is effective to engage essential stakeholders in the collaborative?
What are the benefits of this approach?

- 4. Making It Work: The Signature Style and other Elements that Make Organ Donation Breakthrough Collaborative Distinctive Events
Dennis Wagner, Health Resources and Services Administration
- 5. What It Looks Like: Presenting Several Collaborative Learning Session Elements
Kevin O'Connor, PA, MS, CPTC, New England Organ Bank

Questions to run on:

What does the learning session program content actually “look and feel” like?
What are the benefits of this interactive program design?

- 6. Translating the U.S. Model: Collaboratives in other Countries
Kim Young, Canadian Council for Donation and Transplantation
- 7. What Can We Do To Help? (Offers and Requests)
A Faculty Panel to answer questions and offer “pearls of wisdom.”